General Instructions

If at any time you would like to download this form to work on off-line, simply click "Question List" above. Once completed, you can return to this form and cut and paste your answers in.

Max Bell Foundation invites potential partners to begin the application process by submitting a Letter of Intent (LOI). We review LOIs to assess the extent to which they align with our purpose and granting guidelines. When the alignment appears sufficiently strong, we invite a full proposal.

The following tips might be useful to you:

- By far the most common reason the Foundation declines Letters of Intent is because they do not align with our purpose or granting guidelines. Please review the application guidance on our website before submitting.
 - The Foundation supports projects. By "project" we mean work organized to achieve a clear, measurable goal that a team sets out to achieve over a specific period of time. A proposal for a project includes a description of the resources and sequence of activities that are planned to achieve only that goal.
 - The Foundation supports only projects that aim to inform public policy choices. Letters of Intent that do not identify the public policy choice(s) the project aims to inform will be declined. The more clearly applicants identify the public policy choice(s) the proposed work will inform, the more likely they are to be invited to submit a full proposal.

Project Details

1) PROBLEM DEFINITION

What problem do you expect the public policy change you seek will help to solve? Who is impacted by the problem, and how? Where possible, quantify your answers. References to credible sources of evidence are welcome.

2) TARGETED POLICY CHANGE

What change(s) to public policy will the project help create? Be as specific as you can. As a reminder, our working definition of public policy is:

- Public policy refers to official decisions that guide the activities of governments at the local, municipal, provincial, or federal levels.
- For example, public policy decisions can be expressed as legislation, resolutions, regulations, by-laws, appropriations, court decisions, etc.
- Public policy refers not only to decisions, but also to the programs and administrative practices undertaken by governments.

3) PLANNED ACTIVITIES

What would the project do that would help create the change(s) identified in “targeted policy change” above? List and briefly give a rationale for each of the main activities.

4) KEY ASSUMPTIONS

What are the most important assumptions you are making in linking the planned activities to the achievement of the targeted policy change?
